Most of Russia has a continental climate, with long, cold winters and brief summers. There is a wide range of summer and winter temperatures. A record low temperature of -71°C was registered in 1974 at the northeast Siberian village of Oymyakon, which is the lowest temperature ever recorded anywhere in the world for an inhabited region.

B) Рубрика

We usually don't think about ice too much, unless there's none in the freezer and all we have to drink is a warm can of Coke. Before the invention of artificial refrigeration in the early 1900s, ice was the only way to keep things cool and food from spoiling. While there were ice-making machines in use in the mid- to late-1800's, they were mostly for commercial use.

C) Рубрика

Traditionally, Russian clothing had two main colours – the natural colour of the material – white, and red. "Red" is the same word that was used in the old days to call everything beautiful. That is, red elements in clothing became beautiful elements. Interaction with nature led to the appearance of very interesting new colours in Russian clothing: yellow, gold, blue and many others.

D) Рубрика

Polar bears live along shores and on sea ice in the icy cold Arctic. When sea ice forms over the ocean in cold weather, many polar bears head out onto the ice to hunt seals. Male polar bears may grow 10 feet tall and weigh over 1400 pounds. Females reach seven feet and weigh more than 650 pounds. In the wild polar bears live up to age 25.

E) Рубрика

Stroganina is a raw frozen fish delicacy from Yakutia, in northern Russia. It is a winter dish, consisting of long, thin slices of frozen Arctic river fish such as whitefish, white salmon or sturgeon. It is sometimes decorated with wild red berries and greens. Some of the best stroganina is made of freshly caught fish, frozen once. The taste, according to Yakutians, is soft, fresh and frosty.

Imagine that you are preparing a project with your friend. You have found some interesting material for the presentation and you want to read this text to your friend. You have 2 minutes to read the text silently, then be ready to read it out aloud. You will not have more than 2 minutes to read it.

In the modern world it is hard to imagine a person who cannot use a computer. Using a computer involves typing. This skill is not so easy to learn. You must learn how to type using both hands. The more fingers you can use for typing, the faster you type. Moreover, you must remember the position of each key on the keyboard and so on. It's good if you can type without looking at the keyboard. However, new research shows that this skill is truly necessary only for professional typists. Even they type much slower when they have to write an email or any other kind of message. Their speed of typing drops from 80 words a minute to 45 words a minute. Besides, now people often copy and paste ready texts and then just edit them. So typing fast may be a skill which will be unimportant in the future.
